

SCHOOLING SCHOLARS: UC SAN DIEGO'S STUDENT-CENTERED APPROACHES TO TEACHING AND LEARNING

Gabriele Wienhausen, Director, Teaching + Learning Commons at UC San Diego

Students admitted to UC San Diego have robust academic credentials, but differ widely in their personal backgrounds and classroom experiences. Teaching effectively in the face of this variation is challenging. In 2015, Professor Wienhausen became the founding director of the Teaching + Learning Commons. She will discuss the innovative strategies the Commons is using to provide faculty with innovative, research-based resources to enhance teaching and assessment, and to provide students with tools that enable them to get the most out of their UC San Diego education and maximize their potential for academic and career success.